SILVER'S GAS

The Service Station

Bob and Judy went to the service station with Father.
They went in the car.

The children liked the man
at the service station.
The man liked Bob and Judy.
"I want some gas and oil,"
said Father.
The man at the service station put in some gas.
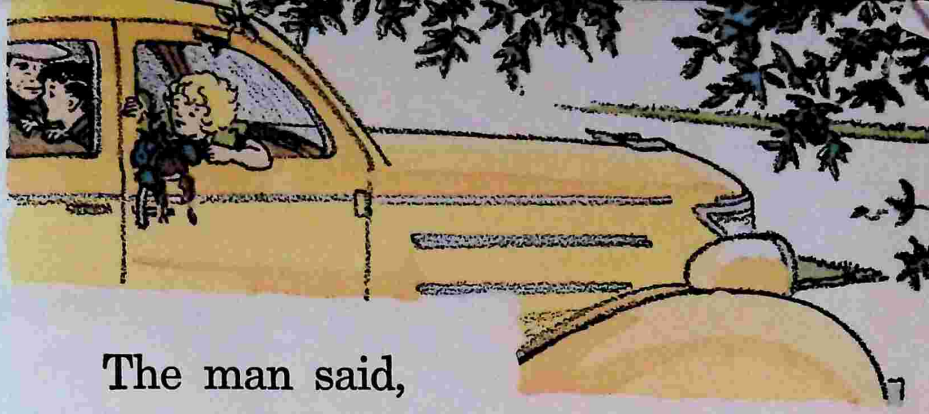
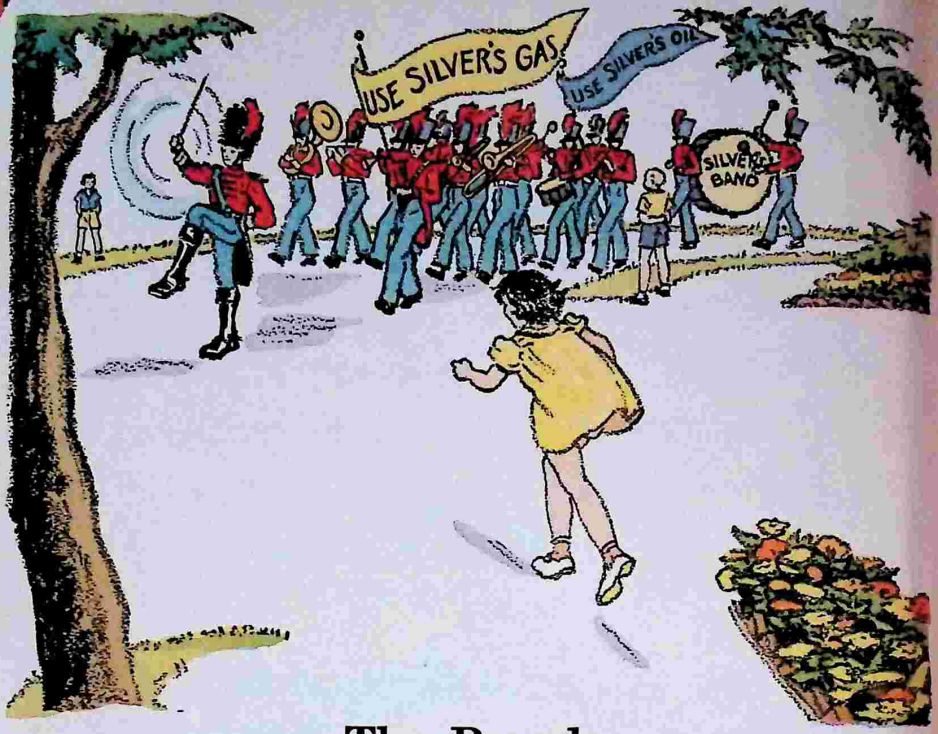
Then he put oil in the car.

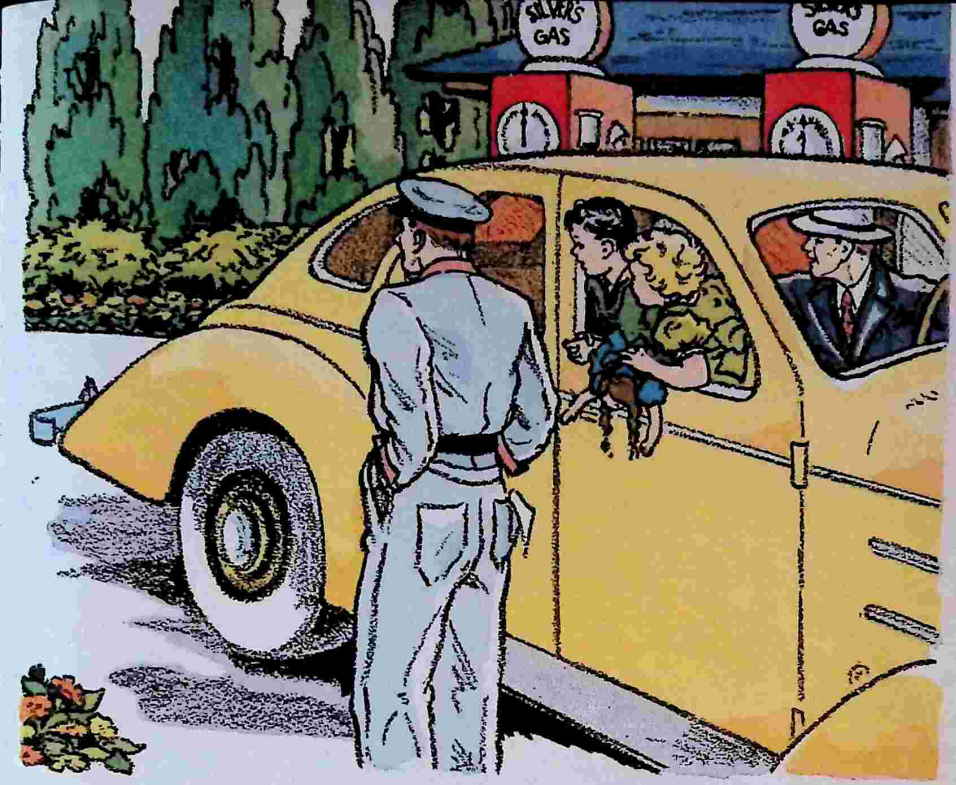


The man said,
"Now I will put in some water."
Bob wanted to help
put in the water.
Father said,
"You can not help now.
The man must work fast.
He may let you help
some other day.
You may give him the money."
"Here is the money," said Bob.
"Thank you," said the man.
"Come back again."



The Parade

"I hear a band," said Judy.
"Look! There is a parade.
See the funny hats!
That band is not like Father's.
Father's band plays
at the radio studio."



Bob said, "That is Silver's band.
See their flags.
On one of the flags
it says, 'Use Silver's Gas.'
On the other it says,
'Use Silver's Oil.'"

The man looked at the parade.
"I put Silver's oil and gas in your car," he said.
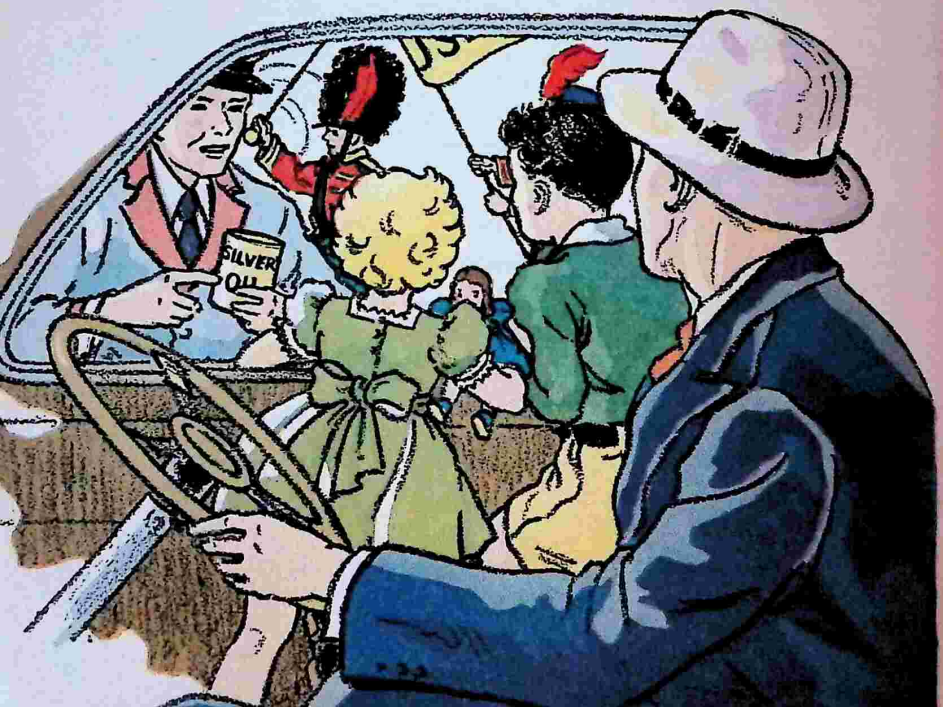
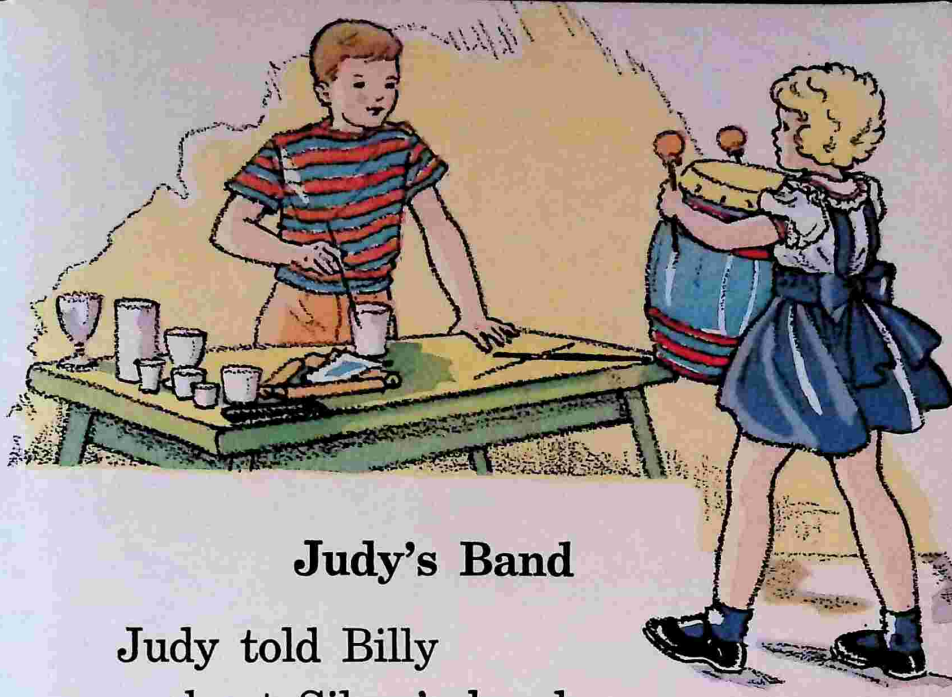
"They give good service."
Father said, "That band is good.
I like to hear them play.
They should play for the radio."





Judy's Band

Judy told Billy about Silver's band.
"Let us have a band," said Billy.
"I will tell the boys about it.
You can tell the girls."
Judy said, "Sue and Jane can be in our band.
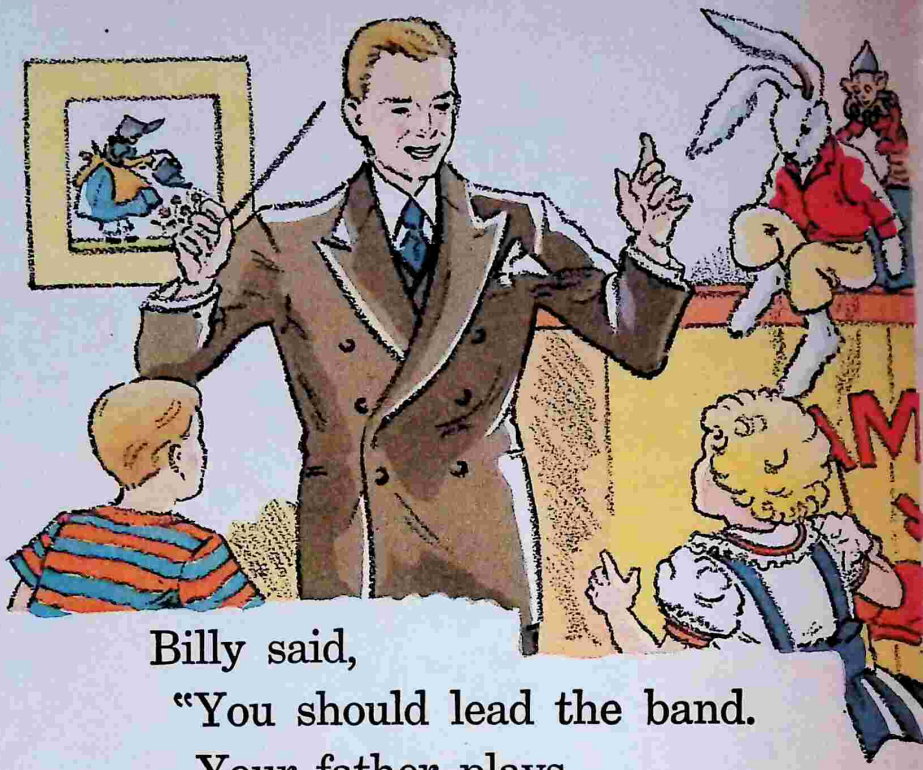
We can have a parade.
We shall have fun!"



Billy said,
"You should lead the band.
Your father plays
in a radio band.
He can show you how to lead."
Judy nodded her head.
"Yes," she said.
"Father will show me
how to lead a band."

Judy told Father about the band.
He said, "I will help you with your band.
I do not play at the studio today."
Soon the other children came.
They took the band things and began to play.

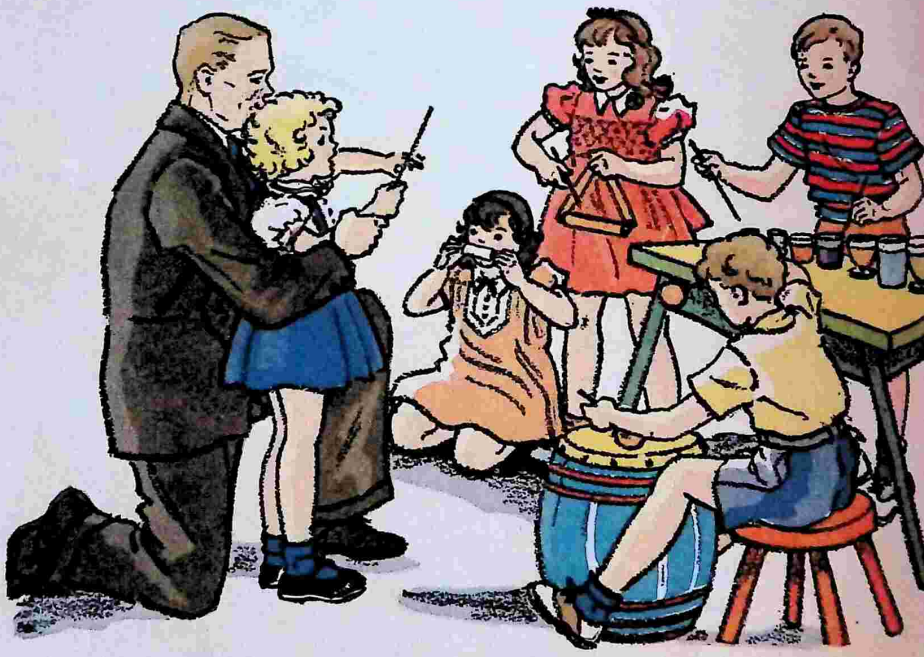
First Father told Billy
what to do.
Then he helped the other children.
He helped Judy lead the band.
After a time Father said,
"You play well.
Soon you will want to play
for the radio."



Hats for the Band

The children wanted Miss King to hear the band.
Billy said,
"The other children want to hear us.
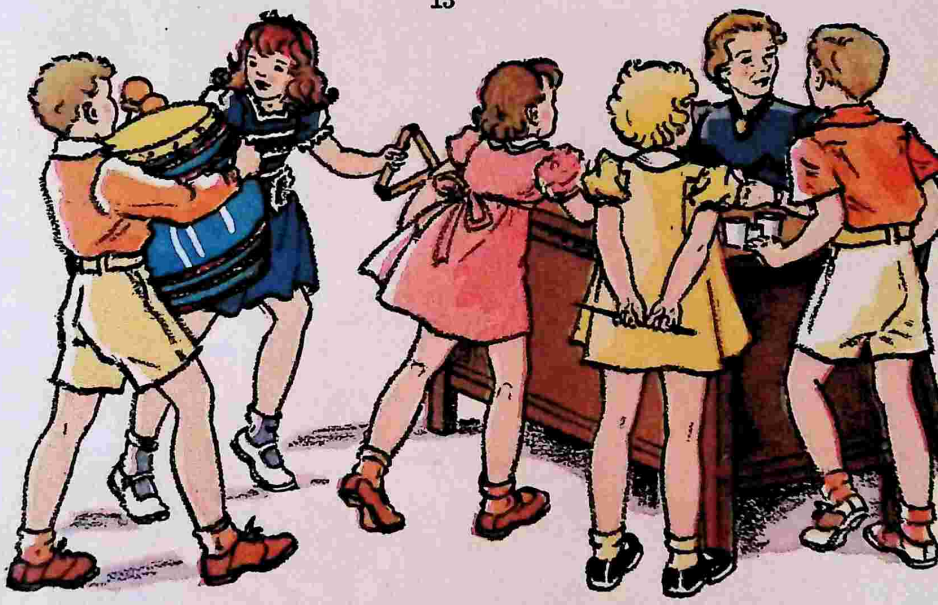
May we play in school?"
"Yes," said Miss King.
"You may play for us today."



After the children played,
Miss King said, "Thank you.
I like your band.
You may play for us soon again."
Then Miss King said,
"We are going to plant
trees in the school yard.
Let us tell about it."

Jane said, "I will tell
why we have tree planting."
Billy said, "I will help plant the tree."
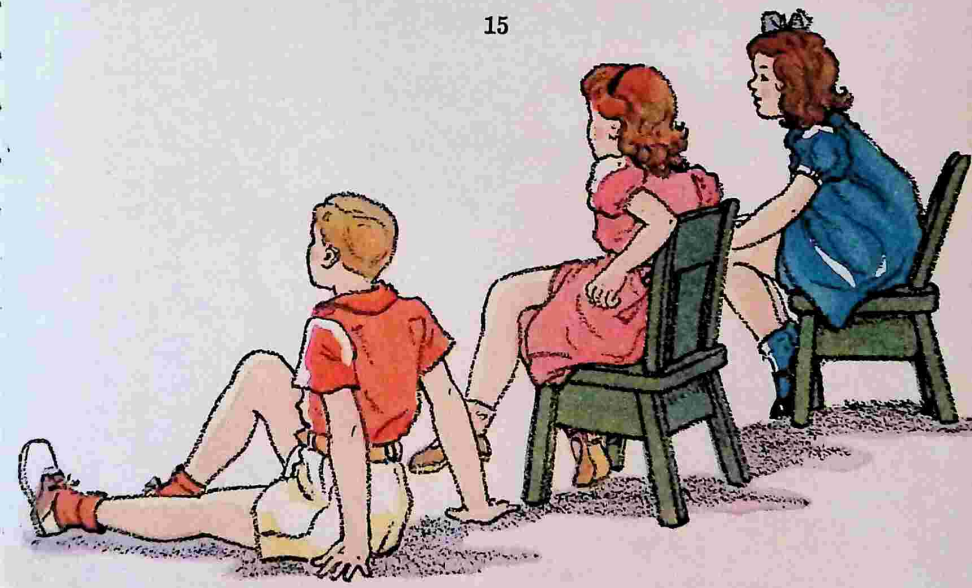
"May Judy's band play?" said Sue.
"Yes," said Miss King.
"We can make hats for the band,"
said Sue.
"We can have a parade."



The children made hats
for the band.
The boys made red hats.
The girls made blue hats.
Judy's hat was green.
Miss King put a little tree
on Judy's hat.
She said, "The little tree will show that Judy is to lead the band."

A Tree to Plant

A boy brought a little tree to Miss King's room.
He said, "Here is the tree
for the children to plant."
Billy said, "We will plant it in the school yard.
A man will show us
how to do it.
Other children will plant trees, too.
Many people will be there to see us plant trees."

Soon it was time
for the tree planting.
The parade began.
The children went from their room to the yard.
Judy's band
was at the head of the parade.
Some boys in the parade took trees to the yard.
Other children had flags.
People clapped their hands
for the parade.

Sue took care of the program.
"First we will sing about the little tree,"
said Sue.
People liked
to hear the children sing.
They had to sing again and again.
Sue said, "Now Jane will tell
why we have tree planting."
Then a man
helped Billy and other boys plant the trees.

The Story

Sue said,

"Now you will hear a story.
Bob will tell a story about a tree.
He has some pictures.
He will show them to you."

Bob had pictures of a little tree in the woods.
He said, "This little tree was in the woods.
A man went to the woods
and got the tree.
He took it to a school."

"Some children took the tree to a park.
A man helped them plant it.
The children took care of the tree.
After a time the tree was big.
Some birds made their home
in the tree.
The boys and girls
liked to hear the birds sing.
Our tree will be big some day.
Then we can hear birds sing near our school."

After the story
it was time to go home.
Miss King said,
"You are good children.
The program was fine.
Bob, you did your work well.
The band played well, too.
I know your little tree will be a big tree some day."

How Kitty Helped Judy

Judy took her green hat home.
She wanted to show Mother
the little tree on it.
Mother said, "Put the hat on.
Let me see how you look when you lead your band.
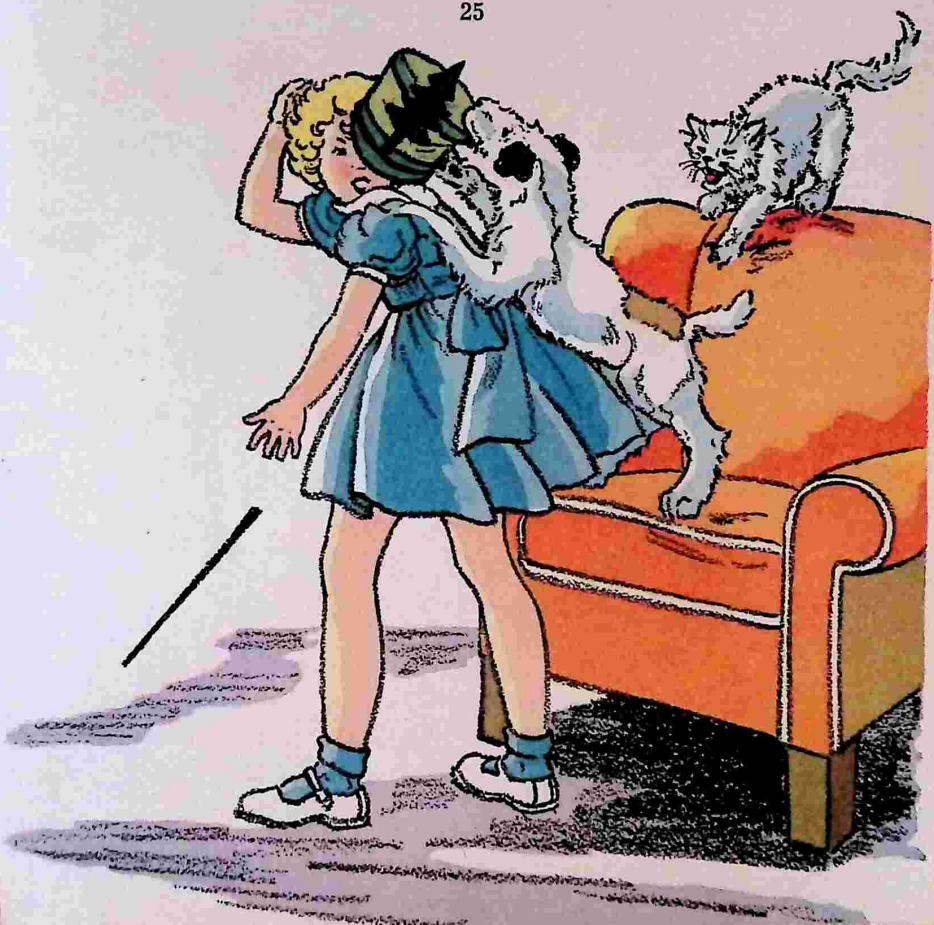
I could not go to school today."

Judy put on the hat.
She did not know
that Toby was near her.
Toby jumped for Judy's hat.
He wanted to run away with it.



Cotton saw Toby.
She began to put up her back.
She looked at Toby.
She said, "Fff-ff-f!"
Toby did not know what to do.
He could not get away.
"Fff-ff-f, fff-ff-f!" said Cotton.
Toby dropped the hat.
He ran out.

Judy laughed.
She said, "Mother,
did you see Cotton
make Toby run out?
Cotton put up her back and looked at Toby.
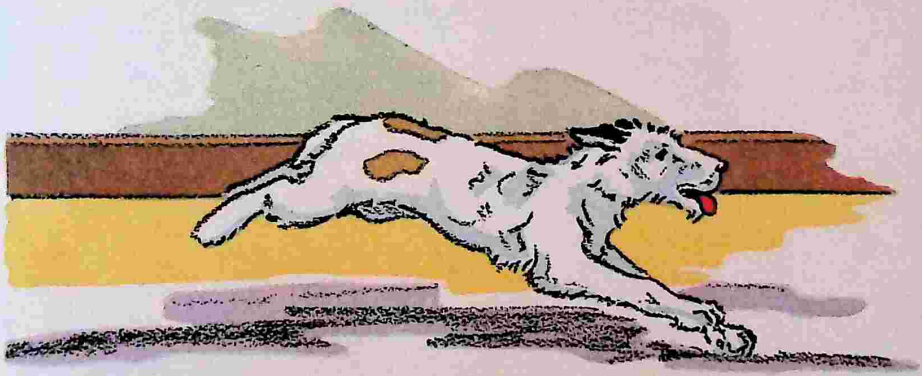
He could not get away
from Cotton.
When she said, 'Fff-ff-f,'
Toby dropped my band hat.
My kitty is a good little pet."



Pictures of Judy's Band

Mother wanted some pictures of Judy's band.
She wanted Grandmother to see them.
The children
came to Judy's home.
They put on their red and blue hats.
They got ready for the pictures.

Mother took some pictures.
Then she told the children
they should get ready to play.
"I want Grandmother to see how you do it," she said.
The children got ready to play.
Judy was ready to lead them.

Toby looked at the band.
He looked at the stick that Judy had.
Then he ran to Judy.
The children did not know what Toby wanted.

Judy put up the stick.
The band was ready to play.
Then Toby jumped for the stick.
He wanted to play with Judy.
The children laughed.
Billy said, "Toby wants to lead."
Judy laughed, too.
"I may have to get Cotton,"
she said.
"My kitty can make Toby stop."
